"Fragile Things" is the Ubiquity debut by French producer Dandy Teru. As part of the burgeoning "Beat Scene", in France, and with inclusion in fellow beatmaker Tall Black Guy's "Tempo Dreams Vol.1" for Bastard Jazz, Dandy Teru's signature, cinematic production style has established himself as a producer to take note of, and one that's to be "watched". Featuring British rapper Ty (Big Dada) and vocals by Sarah Gessler (Beatspoke) as well as a remix by his production partner Quiet Dawn, this limited 12" single provides a great "taster" of what's yet to come.

Hailing from Orleans, France, Dandy Teru wears many hats; multi-media artist, artistic director, radio host and selector on Laid Back Radio, but foremost as a music producer. With connections and contributions to a slew of young and upcoming French artists in the Hip-Hop scene such as Tchad Unpoe, Pumpkin, Supafuh, and fellow producers Monkey Robot and Quiet Dawn, he's been slowly making a name for himself yet still somewhat working in the shadows. His production aesthetic however hasn't gone unnoticed with his inclusion in TBG's (Tall Black Guy) Tempo Dreams compilation for Bastard Jazz featuring new producers of note as well as a track on the Do The Dilla 2012 album.

With a full-length album release due early next year featuring Moka Only, Count Bass D, Rita J and remixes by TBG, Monkey Robot and Quiet Dawn as well as another collaboration with TBG on our next installation of the Luv N' Haight Edit Series, Dandy Teru will complete his emergence from the shadows and into the spotlight.
